

The thunderstorm- a Writing Metaphor

By Aubrey W.

Attributes of my rainbow

Downpour

power

loud

cloudy

dark

frightening

lightning

showers

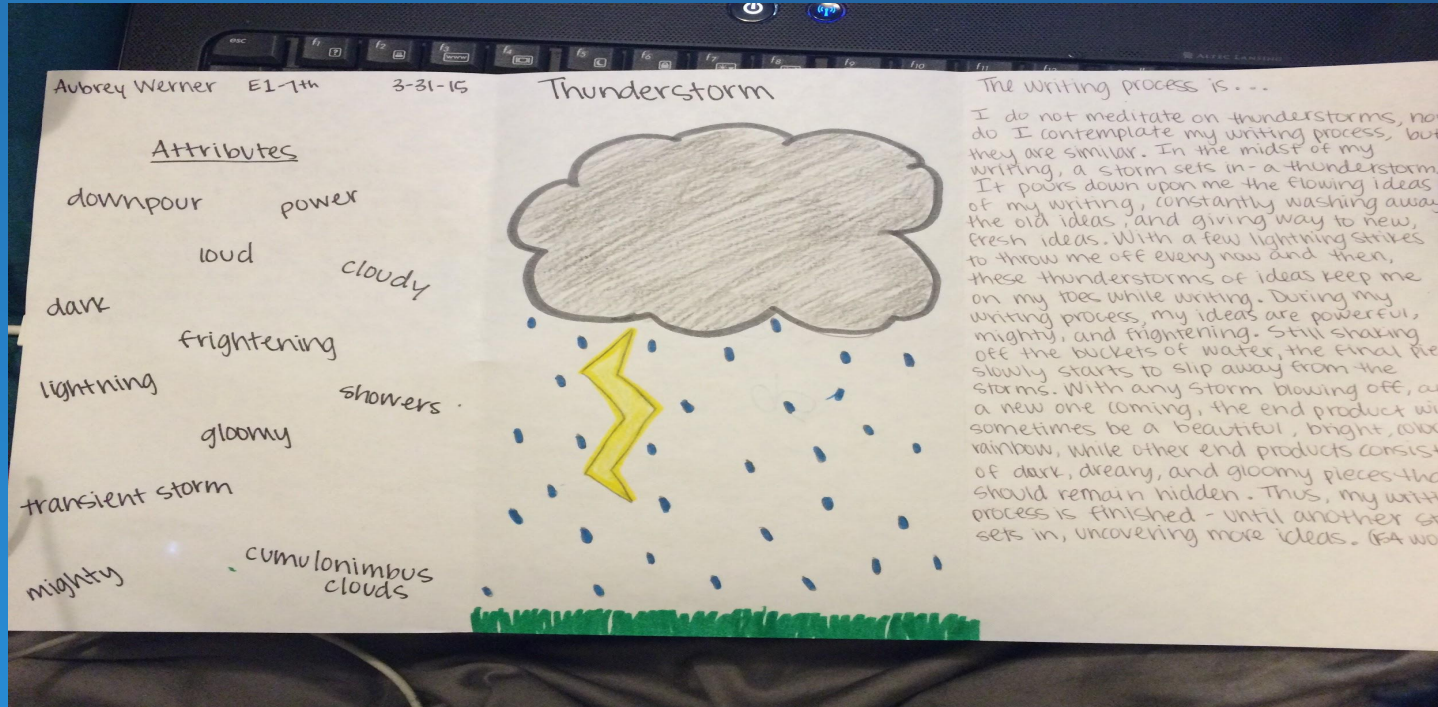

gloomy

transient storm

mighty

cumulonimbus clouds

The Writing Process is...

The Writing Process is...

I do not meditate on thunderstorms, nor do I contemplate my writing process, but they are similar. In the midst of my writing, a storm sets in- a thunderstorm. It pours down upon me the flowing ideas of my writing, constantly washing away the old ideas, and giving way to new, fresh ideas. With a few lightning strikes to throw me off every now and then, these thunderstorms of ideas keep me on my toes while writing.